

Coach D's 2010 Summer Volleyball Camps

Camps are designed to provide young girls an opportunity to improve their individual skills in an atmosphere that is both intense and challenging, but also designed around having fun and being positive. Camp Director Gary Davis has been involved in all aspects of the game including high school, juniors, college, camps, and clinics. He promotes teaching the person as well as the player. His focus is to provide a challenging and learning volleyball experience with attention on specific skills and techniques needed to improve as a volleyball player.

Technical training camps will be designed around the needs of those participating. Following are the camp choices:
